In addition to the requested presentations component of IEO, in the coming year we are exploring the possibility of developing a multi-cultural program that Jordan Institute members would have the opportunity to perform in local classrooms. Duties of the committee would include:

- Working with teachers and school staff to schedule events
- Finding and contacting international students to represent their home countries
- Helping to run events in the schools
- Work with children to encourage understanding of different cultures
- Marketing the program to schools in the Bryan/College Station area

The Marketing committee is responsible for advertising the programs of the Jordan Institute to the Texas A&M campus and surrounding community. Both our on-campus and travel programs benefit from effective marketing and it is important that our organization target certain eligible groups within the student body as well as enhance a general recognition for all of the exciting opportunities that are available to students as a member of the Jordan Institute.
