FELLOWS PROGRAM
Funding for Research Abroad
Research Anything, Anywhere
Open to ALL Majors

Please call (979) 845-1515 for assistance. Please allow 10 business days to accommodate all requests.

Fellow Rachel Adam's research focused on deep rooting tropical trees in the seasonally dry forests of the Yucatán Peninsula in Mexico.
L.T. Jordan Fellows

Jordan Fellows have researched countless topics in numerous places around the globe.

The L.T. Jordan Fellows Program provides highly qualified Texas A&M University undergraduate and graduate students with an opportunity for personal enrichment and education through an international research experience. This is achieved by the program participants designing an independent international research project in another country that will enhance their academic or career goals. The program annually selects up to ten qualified students to receive a grant of up to $2,000 with which to assist trip expenses. As a part of the program, the Fellows must prepare their own travel itineraries, description of research activities, budget estimates, and an extensive report and public presentation describing the experience abroad.

This fellowship is designed for individual study or research and is not designed to fund a Study/Internship Abroad program.
